Summary

First, the problem of the study:

Family is considered one of the most important organizations in the society for its great effect in the lives of every individual and in his manner because family is system known by mankind through the ages.

The small family in the eyes of heavenly religions consists of husband, wife and children to whom parents move the principles across generations. So, if the small family is united and stable this will result positively on the society.

While the broken family will affect the society negatively since family is the cornerstone of the society: family, late has been exposed to great changes like the work of women, travelling abroad, insulting, jealousy…etc. all these will result in collapsing the family and may be parents separated because of misunderstanding and the negligence of relatives and other reasons.

So, Many laws are arranged to enable parents to solve their problems so, here, the idea of the family court appeared and the Egyptian constitution cared greatly for the family so its tenth rule gives the government the responsibility of saving motherhood and childhood.

So, there must be an isolated courtyard for the family which consists of qualified judges who are trained to judge on family different cases either they are about caring for children or for their money. Many specialized person in psychology and sociology help those judges to investigate about all the disputes through an accurate study in the family affairs also there is a law house constructed especially for establishing peace among the members of the family before going to the courtyard according to the law number 10 in the year 2004 in 17 / 3 / 2004 and was applied in 2004 in October.

These offices are for establishing peace between struggling parts these offices consist of (social worker, a man of law and psychologist) besides the administrators and the head of the office, every process should be divided between them all to be completed.

Of course the sociologist can't work alone, he should cooperate with other members so as to succeed in his work so, and the researcher didn't concentrate only on the sociologist but on others also.
