evaluate the impacts of the alliances between airlines on their performance. The aim of this study is to measure and identify how these alliances affect changing airlines performance.