Abstract

The Objectives of the Study: This study aims to question and investigate the following:• Identify the effectiveness of the cognitive-behavioral program in the development of bearing ambiguity on a sample of Deaf people. • Identify the effectiveness of the cognitive behavioral program in the development of mental hardness among a sample of Deaf people. • Identify the extent of continuity of the effectiveness of the cognitive behavioral program in the development of bearing the ambiguity development on a sample of the Deaf after the follow-up period. • Identify the extent of continuity of the effectiveness of the cognitive behavioral program in the development of mental hardness on a sample of the Deaf after the follow-up period. • The sample of the study was selected from Al Amal School for the Deaf at Demo, Fayoum Governorate.

Tenth: Findings of the Research:• There are statistically significant differences between the average scores of the experimental group arranged in the before and after application in the measure of the tolerance of ambiguity in favor of the after application. • There is no statistically significant difference among the middle ranks of the experimental group in the post test to measure the iterative and the tolerance of ambiguity. • There is a statistically significant difference among the middle ranks of the experimental group and control group in the post test to measure bearing ambiguity in favor of the experimental group.