The problem of the study

It has become a religious sense and the pursuit of gaining the approval of God of the strongest motives to charity and do good for the poor and needy, and based on that became the religious factor of the most important factors in the field of social welfare is urging them and strengthens the desire to be submitted in order to do good, and land to the poor and help the needy.

This is prompting the emergence of the field of social security which is one of the most important areas of social welfare who cares achieving solidarity for all citizens, especially the poor and the needy, however researcher wondering whether Social Security tainted or not?

Efforts to social welfare of the help of man to his fellow man as old as humanity since found that the human and capable help of others capable of on the basis of integration among the inhabitants of the same society.

The evolution of this concept through the ancient times since the Pharaonic era, Varomany Valigrivy to take different patterns and provide care on the basis of different motives any different from one society to another. Then evolved Care under the heavenly religions "Jewish - Christian - Islamic" to show the influence of religion in pushing the movement of social welfare to include all forms of care for humans in a comprehensive framework on the basis of synergy and empathy and solidarity between all the protection of the individual and society and in some countries of Western Europe, England and America took the Social Welfare multiple images to show the legislation in order to ensure the welfare of the citizens in those communities, and appeared much of the social movements, "the laws of poverty - shops social - organizing charity associations "to have an impact in the evolution of the concept of social welfare newly show multiple models applied to the basis of Social Welfare in the modern era according to the ideology of the community. - Planning Associations charity "to have an impact in the evolution of the concept of social welfare newly show multiple models applied on the basis of which the Social Welfare in the modern era according to the ideology of the community and represents the social security the most important social welfare programs where is the means of social security overall feature of the development of modern, as though the Social Security has introduced in Germany in 1880, its implementation in a comprehensive manner not in practice during the nineteenth century because the principles of economic freedom was still prevalent and was seen to poverty always as a result of the inefficiency of the poor and not to attempt to save as well as the vices which were Alsqunha their causing stigma for them.
Social Security is an important and effective tool in all societies in order to play then its institutions and its funds and an important role in the provision of essential social security and social protection to individuals and families within the community.

It is also social security and one of the most important achievements reached by the efforts of politicians and reformers, intellectuals and scholars during the twentieth century apart from the deficiencies that might occur in the application, the philosophical basis which is built upon the idea of social security is enough to reduce the severity of misery humanitarian suffering of the poor and disadvantaged. The Social Security benefits of offering multiple supports respect for oneself and preserve his dignity.

A guarantee is a social objective in seeking to achieve the modern state is no guarantee of a minimum standard of living for everyone in the state, both in extraordinary circumstances faced by the members of his family and to the dangers of the disease, old age, permanent disability, unemployment, accidents and so on. So as not to face the individual in the case of the state of destitution or concern for any reason arising from social and economic conditions in which people live in modern industrial societies.

On the basis of this is a social security mechanism among the mechanisms used by the government in the face of the phenomenon of poverty through multiple services, whether pensions or assistance or otherwise.

Objectives of the study:

This study seeks to achieve the major goal of the effect is "to define the relationship between the receipt of social security services and the stigma."

That goal is achieved through three sub-goals, namely:

1) determining the level of service provided by Social Security.
2) monitoring the treatment of social security workers.
3) determine the level of stigma among clients of social security.

The study hypotheses:

Off the current study of three main hypotheses are:

1) expected a significant inverse relationship between the receipt of social security services and a sense of stigma.
2) of the expected significant differences between groups of beneficiaries of social security in the identified level of receiving social security services and according to Mtgrat (Type - number of years of use).
3) than expected and there is a significant relationship between variables beneficiary of the security services and their level of stigma.
The study relied on a range of research tools, namely: -

1) formal the dish on a random sample of "322" Single of the total 1996 and aimed at identifying the feelings of the beneficiaries of social security services and the level of service provided to them and monitoring the treatment of them security personnel.

2) Manual interview was applied to all workers and social workers who deal directly with the beneficiaries.

Results of the study: -

- The results of the study show that illiteracy prevails among the beneficiaries of social security services by 78.6% and this indicates a high rate of illiteracy among the poor.

- The results of the study show that the majority of customers also guarantee totally dependent on aid and pensions they receive from Social Security and that was 99.4%, which confirms the existence of the stigma of reliability that they rely on security services only, without the search for other sources.

- The results of the study also found that disability category are the highest beneficiaries of Social Security and was 32.6% may indicate a high incidence of disability among the poor.

- The results of the study also confirmed the existence of an inverse relationship of statistical significance between the treatment of workers and beneficiaries feeling stigma in the sense that if there is good treatment and good on the part of workers has led to a decline in negative feelings among the beneficiaries and their sense of stigma and vice versa.

- The results of the study confirmed the existence of an inverse relationship of statistical significance between the level of service provided by the warranty and sense of stigma beneficiaries.

- Hence resulted in the overall results of the study on the existence of an inverse relationship statistically significant between the receipt of social security services and the level of stigma among the beneficiaries.

- Of the results of the study they also confirmed the health of the study hypotheses, namely: -
  1) expected a significant inverse relationship between the receipt of social security services and a sense of stigma.
  2) of the expected significant differences between groups of beneficiaries of social security in the identified level of receiving social security services and according to Mtgrat (Type - number of years of use).
  3) than expected and there is a significant relationship between variables beneficiary of the security services and their level of stigma.