1-Read the following passage and then answer the questions:

What is common to all forms of the divine message, delivered by all prophets, is the belief in God's oneness which , by implication, includes belief in the Day of Judgement , and the fulfillment of two essential duties: Prayers and zakah. The first is a duty maintaining the relation between man and God and the second ensures good relations in society as the rich are required to help the poor.

Beyond this , divine messages differ in their details but all insist on good action and refraining from sin. When humanity attained maturity , God decided to give mankind the final version of his message, which meant giving them its complete form . This form had to be embodied in a book which will remain always available. Hence, the message is given in the Quran.
