

Fayoum University

4th Year

Faculty of Education

Novel

English Department

January 2012

Time: 3 hours

A) Comment on the following extract with reference to its context:

For once in my life I'll thank you to leave me alone. I'll thank your mother too. For twelve years you've trained me and tortured me, and I'll stand it no more. Do you think I'm a fool? Do you think I never felt? Ah. When I came to your house a poor young pride, how you all looked me over—never a kind word—and discussed me, and your mother corrected me, and your sister snubbed me; and you said funny things about me to show how clever you were.

B) Attempt 2 only of the following questions:

1. Discuss the use of objective correlative in The Heart of Darkness.
2. Explain the examples given by Conrad to create a gloomy atmosphere.
3. Discuss Philip's character in Where Angels Fear to Tread.

=====