

The Role of science Historians for westernizing of the concept of Modern Science

Khaled. A Qutb

Philosophers of science raised issues and problems related to the method of historiography of science in general and the historiography the western science in particular. So, this paper discusses the role of the science historian for westernizing the concept of modern science and ignoring the other histories of science.