

2 - The title of the research: "Functions of conscience in the sentence study in the structure"

This research is conducted on the "functions of conscience in the sentence study in the structure," as the pronouns have a special function in the language, and the importance of significant, and the importance of conscience on the one hand, As a representative of successive names, deeds, phrases and sentences, the pronoun may replace a word, phrase, phrase or sentence, and also because it links the different parts of the text, both internally and exophoric,

"Anaphoric" and the suffix "Cataphoric". The importance of the ancient and the modern in its role, it drew the conscience of Arab grammarians and linguists, recorded their uses and examined the nature and its implications and locations, and their interest in pronouns to talk about its tribal authority (that is, the promise of conscience on the advanced in the word and grade, and this is the origin in the reference of conscience, (The latter is late in pronoun), the importance of which is not only the reference, but the reference and linkage between the internal parts on the one hand and the internal and external on the other.

The narrator is aware of the importance of pronouns and their evils from an early date, and it is mentioned that if the news is not novice, it must be in the news, "male, if not one of these two faces is assigned, and similar: Zaid goes his boy, and increased his father Karim ... If you say: ZaidAmr, it is not permissible "and - of course - to free the whole story of conscience or a male back to the beginner, and then became a lack of a link in such a sentence.

But they realized that the conscience is the most important links linking the news to the beginning, IbnHisham said under the title of "links to the wholesale news about it" several links include most of the links mentioned by the contemporary text scholars, including: "conscience, which is the origin, Kzid hit him, and deleted towards: (These are for the Saharan) if they are estimated to be charming ... ".

It is remarkable to mention that conscience is a link, and this is his scriptural function, which he has already made, and this shows his awareness of the importance of conscience in particular.

The modernists were aware of the function of conscience in the sentence, and realized its importance, when the Naseen was conscience

In the textual analysis; "The function of conscience is not merely substitution or compensation for the apparent name, but it is also a link that achieves scriptural consistency, and therefore is of paramount importance in textual analysis."

The pronouns of the text emphasized that conscience has importance in that it "refers to elements already mentioned in the text and that conscience (is) has two advantages ; The first is the absence of the rhetorical circle, and the second is the ability to assign certain objects, and these two qualities of this conscience are of great importance in studying the coherence of the texts.

Consonants with other means are a high textual text; therefore, if pronouns such as them, they appear, they refer not only to people or to objects, but to references or passages written in the past. Conscience achieves coherence and brevity.

And the conscience of the family names, and not a separate section in contrast to the other sections of the word; it accepts some of the signs that distinguish the name of the pseudonyms, such as traction and attribution to him, in addition to his call for names and the status and performance of its function, has been aware of the updated linguists, Vfndris pointed out that Conscience If it stands alone, it plays the role of the name exactly, so we must go in the class names, and felt that it is not an independent section of the word.

This research dealt with the function of conscience in syntax and its syntax, through the definition of language and terminology, and then talk about

- the rank of conscience, ie, its location of knowledge; where the public went to know knowledge.

- Conscientious conscience, which is the conscience of the effect of the actor.

- The importance of conscience in the sentence.

- the function of conscience in the sentence, as it performs certain functions in the sentence, is a corner of the corners,

There is also a virtue in it, and its functions also: the separation between the Almtzalzin, and shortening and raising confusion,

And the maximization and amplification of conscience, affinity and connection.

- The provisions of conscience; conscience has its own provisions, including: the return of things to their origins, and that it is not described and described, and that does not change neither implicit nor apparent, and does not modify the caller to the separate, and may be deleted for knowledge, and that if the absent He must have a reference to explain it, and it matches his interpretation in its type and number, and it goes back to the nearest mentioned.
