Fayoum University
Faculty of Dar Al-Oloum

The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on Grammatical Studies both in the Past and at Present

By

Tahia Abdel Tawab Ahmed Abdel Baky

Under the supervision of
A. D. Mamoon Abdel Halim Wagih
Supervisor President

2015

Summary of the Research

The title of this research is "The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on Grammatical Studies both in the Past and at Present". The significance of the research lies in examining the two-way relationship between some branches of knowledge, including basically grammar and Jurisprudence, then the sciences of the holy Qur'an and the Prophetic Traditions (the Sunnah). The ultimate goal is to investigate the virtual doctrine and track its impact on the traditional as well as recent grammatical studies. This type of study reveals the overlap as well as integration between legislative and grammatical sciences in addition to the wide knowledge of our scholars and thinkers. That is to say, one of the most sublime as well as beneficial sciences is the sciences of the holy legislature and the relevant arts which, together with the holy legislature, aid to understand the divine meaning. This sound understanding of the holy Qur'an and the Prophetic traditions (the Sunnah) requires an excellent command of the linguistic sciences by which meanings as well as structures of words, phrases, and sentences are determined. Therefore, jurisprudence scholars have shown great concern to language and its sciences and realized the centrality of language in aiding to understand the Qur'an.

As for the structure of the research, it is divided into four main parts: (1) Introduction, (2) Preface, (3) Two Parts, and (4) Conclusion. The introduction aims to shed light on the significance of the research, reasons for choosing the topic, and the methodology. The preface provides a definition for the virtual school, its key figures and its fundamentals. The first part is entitled, "The Impact of Virtual Doctrine in Grammatical Studies both in the Past and at Present" and this includes three chapters, as follows:

Chapter One: The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on grammatical Ruling;

Chapter Two: The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on Case Guidance;

Chapter Three: The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on grammatical Formation.

Translated by FUCLT

Dr. Ahmed M.Abdel Salam

The second part is entitled, "The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on Modern Grammatical Studies". This part falls into three chapters:

Chapter One: The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on Grammar Facilitating Attempts;

Chapter Two: The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on some scholars of Modern Linguistic science;

Chapter Three: The Impact of Virtual Doctrine on the Descriptive Grammar.

Conclusion: This part sheds light on findings of the research.

Translated by FUCLT

Dr. Ahmed M.Abdel Salam