

Fayoum University

Faculty of Social Work

Department of Social Work Fields

Research summary

Requirements for use online therapy in fields of professional practice of social work

Preparation

Dr.Shamya Gamal Sayed Ali

Lecturer, Department of Social Work, at Fayoum University

Research Summary

The use of information and communication technology has expanded greatly, and has implications for both short and long term on the professional practice of social work with its three approaches (Therapy - preventive - rehabilitative), and accordingly the current study aimed to define the foundations required for the application of on line therapy in the areas of professional practice of social work, which is the basis (knowledge Organizational (organizational - skills - value - self - technical) administrative, in addition to identifying the challenges facing the application of electronic therapy, through the viewpoints of practitioners and academics.

The results were as follows: There are no statistically significant differences between faculty members attributing to their fields of work (education - youth - medical - solidarity) and their identification of the basics of applying electronic therapy in the professional practice of social work fields, and there are statistically significant differences between social workers and faculty members and their identification of the basics The application of on line therapy and their identification of the obstacles to the application of on line therapy in the professional practice of the fields of social work.

Recommendation: The researcher recommends implementing the training program drawn from the results of the current study.

Key words: On line therapy - Fields of professional practice.