

A proposed role from a perspective case work method to achieve intellectual security in the punitive institutions

Abstract

The punitive institutions play set of roles such as: the educational, national, social and religious roles, So that it can achieve intellectual security.

Aims of the study:

The main aim:

Finding a proposed role from a perspective case work method to achieve intellectual security in the punitive institutions.

The Sub aims:

- Defining a religious role provided by the punitive institutions to children.
- Defining a educational role provided by the punitive institutions to children.
- Defining a national role provided by the punitive institutions to children.
- Defining a social role provided by the punitive institutions to children.

Methodology:

Type of study: descriptive

The study method: social survey to all the children in punitive institutions in El-Marj.

Study tools:

- Individual interviews.
- Simple observation
- Questionnaires for the children

Study fields:

The human field: the children in punitive institutions they number 207 child.

The place field: the punitive institutions in El-Marj.

The time field: the time field presents in the period of procedure and implementation the study which lasted for (3) months from 4/2021 until 7/2021.

Results of study:

The study results indicated that there is a satisfaction of the sample at the educational roles which provided by punitive institution , as it ranked the highest percentage, followed by the social roles, then the religious role , and the lowest percentage of the national role provided to children.