

Evaluation of professional interview skills
For social workers at work
With individual cases in schools

Summary

The study tries to determine the extent of the efficiency of social workers in applying the skills of a professional interview in working with individual cases in schools, determining the relationship between the efficiency of social workers in applying the skills of a professional interview in working with individual cases in schools and some variables, and recommending a set of proposals to develop the competence of social workers in the application Professional interview skill in working with individual cases in schools

The study reached the necessity to raise the level of professional competence of social workers in schools by;

A- Intensive and specialized training courses in the professional practice of social service in the school field
B- Specialized training courses on working with individual cases

C- Training courses on professional practice skills for social work, with a focus on professional interview skills as a prerequisite for successful assistance in working with individual cases

D- Implementing training courses at the hands of specialists in social work

E- Habit and rehabilitating the staff of the social worker in schools by enrolling them in one of the newly established social service education departments in Hadramout governorate and linking this to a system of promotions and incentives while providing the necessary facilities for study

F- Providing the social workers with a large number of references and books specialized in social service, especially in the school field, as a means of developing their knowledge about this field