Ain-Shams University
College education quality
Department of artistic Education

Benefit from learning some sources Built in the development of some of the technical concepts of pre-school children

Preparation
Marwa Abdel Aziz Ramadan Abdul Aziz

Assistant Lecturer, Department of Art Education, Faculty of Specific Education _ _ Fayoum University
Complementing the requirements for obtaining a doctoral degree in education quality
(Industry)Curriculum and Instruction

Supervision

D / Magdy Fred infection

Professor of Curriculum and Instruction of Education Technical and Head of the Previously, Faculty of Art Education Ain Shams University

D / Hanadi Mukhtar Zahran

Curriculum and Instruction teacher Art Education Facultys Ain-Shams University

2016

Summary :

Research topic

"Capitalizing on some of the learning Built sources in the development of some of the technical skills of pre-school children".

The researcher in this study worthwhile category of pre-school children and the development of technical skills because art grown individual's personality and helps him to be reconciled with itself and with his community, and Art Education Bciladtha other subjects involved in achieving the educational goals the public.

In this regard, the researcher of the current study, review the both:

• Chapter one : (definition search) .

This chapter deals with the research background and his problem and objectives and its importance and its borders and homework, methodology and terminology and concepts.

• Chapter Two: (associated with studies).

This chapter deals with:

The first axis: studies on methods of kindergartens and their impact on the development of concepts and skills they have.

The second axis: studies linked to the computer and are divided into:

A) preparation of studies on the use of computer programs in the field of art education.

B) studies on the use of computers in the field of public education.

•Chapter Three: (child's needs pre-school) .

This chapter deals with the definition phase of pre-school and its goals and its importance and the demands of the child and characteristics growth, needs and motivations of artistic expression in children and types and the philosophy of the stage and the obstacles and problems that affect the artistic expression in children and Walterpah art and the role of art at this stage, children and the computer and its role in learning the art.

• Chapter four : (Built-learning).

This chapter deals with the concept of learning and built its inception and its components and its components and characteristics and the importance of its use and its features and its factors and patterns, levels, Astaratejaat and methods of teaching.

• Chapter five : (preparation of the program and the research steps procedural) .

This chapter deals with the concept of the proposed program and philosophy, objectives and content of the proposed program and identify tools used in the application of the proposed program and steps of the application of the proposed program and ways Astaratejaat teaching and educational activities and methods of evaluation.

• Chapter six : (Results and discussion statistically) .

This chapter dealt Results and discussion statistically significant in the light of the imposition of search and display student work eating for two tests pre and post, as well as student work to the test post test analysis, also addressed the findings and recommendations.

Finally Arabic references and foreign supplements and summaries Arab and foreign.